

Outliving Your Warranty

When you're dead you don't know you're dead. The pain is only felt by others. The same things happen when you are stupid.

One way to find out if you are old is to fall down in front of a lot of people. If they laugh, you're still young. If they panic and start running to you, you're old.

Try to remember the greener grass on the other side of the fence may be due to a septic tank issue.

When I grow up, I'd like to be a retired lottery winner.

I've found that growing up in the sixties was a lot more fun than being in my sixties.

And just like that 1961 was 60 years ago.

If your eyes hurt after drinking coffee, you have to take the spoon out of the mug.

I find these days, that most of my conversations start with: "Did I tell you this already?" or "What was I going to say?"

I never wish death upon anybody who wrongs me. I wish for them instead, sudden explosive diarrhoea while on a date accompanied with frequent sneezes.

A group of golfers looking for their golf balls in the rough is an adult version of an Easter egg hunt.

Instead of a sign that says, “Do not disturb,” I need one that says, “Already disturbed, proceed with caution.”

The main function of the little toe on your foot is to make sure that all the furniture in the house is in place.

If you’re paying $3.00 for a bottle of Smart Water, it isn’t working.

Everything will kill you, so choose something fun.

I don’t call it getting old, I call it outliving the warranty.

I finally did it! I bought a new pair of shoes with memory foam insoles. No more forgetting why I walked into the bathroom.

You never appreciate what you have until it’s gone. Toilet paper is a good example.

The brain is a most remarkable organ, it works for 24 hours a day, 365 days a year right from birth - until you fall in love.

The best part about getting old is nothing. It sucks! But it's better than the alternative.
